

Sam Lynn Davis, Visual Artist

BIO

I'm a visual artist and web developer with a background in economics and experience with numerous frontend and backend programming languages. I've built multiple web projects from start to finish, and have consulted with teams to build, plan, and hand off or develop frontend assets.

I very strongly believe in the importance of delivering clean, legible, and performant code, and taking a pragmatic and efficient approach to web development all the way from the prototyping stage to deployment.

EXPERIENCE

Graphic Designer, Farmlogix July 2019 – February 2020

Designed digital and print media, such as infographics, sell sheets, product flyers, and a preliminary brand identity revamp.

Frontend Web Developer, Black Box Creative Mar 2012 – January 2019

I've acted as lead designer and developer in the creation of large-scale web presences for law firms, community organizations, nonprofits, churches, and companies of all sizes in Chicago and the Midwest. Led projects from the prototyping stage, through development, and to deployment.

Freelance Filmmaker + Photographer 2010 – Present

I've carried out the tasks of conceptualizing, storyboarding, directing, and shooting various short-form video pieces for a variety of clients. I've also collaborated with teams of stylists, makeup artists, and assistants, to determine the look and feel of photo stories to be featured in print publications.
